

I do NOT support the weakening of the Indiana laws in this area. Life has enough deal with without another little hassle don't you think? This is not in the interest of their customers. Otherwise they could simply ask for contact permission from their customers. Can we disturb you at home after you've worked all day? During dinner? While you are watching a movie?